your resume, learn new skills and give back to the community?

Train to become a volunteer mediator and learn:

- How to listen effectively
- How to ask thought provoking questions
- How to manage difficult behavior
- How to help others achieve satisfying resolutions

In mediation, parties share options for resolving their dispute, and the mediator helps the parties pick the option that best addresses all the parties' concerns.

Trainings are conducted on-line or locally at a community dispute resolution center.
